DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant in his remarks states that "claims 1-4 and 6-8 remain pending in the Application." In finding no written record of cancellation of withdrawn claims 9-20. Examiner cancels claims 9-20 to make the record consistent.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-3 and 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bostrom et al. (US005856632).

Re claim 1, Bostrom et al. discloses an assembly comprising: a filler panel body (40, card cage shielding contactor for example); and a locating element (lead-in flap 82 for example including part of 42) coupled to said filler panel body, said locating element adapted to orient said filler panel body with respect to a chassis (20) such that interference generating movement of said filler panel body is reduced (see figures 1-2 and 8). Note that, it has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

Re claim 2, Bostrom et al. discloses an assembly comprising: an attaching device (fastener 30) adapted to be coupled to said filler panel body, said attaching device for removably coupling said filler panel body to said chassis (see figure 1). Note that, it has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

Re claim 3, Bostrom et al. discloses an assembly comprising: an electromagnetic interference shield portion (40 for example) coupled to said filler panel body, said shield portion adapted to prevent EMI leakage from said chassis (see figures 1-2 and 8). Note that, it has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

Re claim 6, Bostrom et al. discloses an assembly comprising: said locating element with head portion (unnumbered portion, part of 42 for example); an insertion portion (82 for example) coupled to said head portion, said insertion portion adapted to be inserted into an opening in said chassis to reduce said interference generating movement of said filler panel body with respect to said chassis (see figures 1-2 and 8). Note that, it has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

Re claim 7, Bostrom et al. discloses an assembly comprising: said locating element coupled to said filler panel body such that said head portion is flush with said filler panel body (see figures 1-2 and 8).

Re claim 8, Bostrom et al. discloses an assembly comprising: said locating element with a retention portion (unnumbered portion between 82 and part of 42 for example) coupled to said head portion and adapted to enhance coupling of said locating element and said filler panel body (see figures 1-2 and 8). Note that, it has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bostrom et al.

Re claim 4, Bostrom et al. substantially discloses an assembly as set forth in claim 1 with said locating element coupled to said filler panel body at a location such that said locating element will insert into a mounting hole disposed on said chassis. Bostrom et al. does not explicitly disclose that the assembly is in accordance with a compact peripheral component interconnect standard. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the assembly that is in accordance with a compact peripheral component interconnect standard, since it has been held that rearranging parts of an invention involves only routine skill in the art. In re Japikse, 86 USPQ 70.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 1/26/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's arguments regarding "adapted for ...", note that, it has been held that the recitation that an element is "adapted to" perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

In response to applicant's arguments regarding "unused openings must be covered with a blank circuit card bracket", note that, it has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., "the card cage shielding contactor cannot be interposed between each bracket and the computer chassis") are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).
